

Oil Scandal Recalls Turmoil Faced by Grant

By Stephen Bolles

The Teapot Dome scandal is not the first we have had in the United States involving a cabinet officer. Following the Civil War there was a series of scandals which stirred the nation. There was Credit Mobilier and the Whiskey Ring and others of a minor character. Men of high standing in the United States went down in oblivion and disgrace. Credit Mobilier was a busier making investigations as it is now, during both the first and second administrations of Grant. Believing in humanity, having faith in old companions, and men with whom he had fought battles and to whom he believed he should pay attention, he was easily misled. His son, however, in all the attacks in all the scandals of the times, General Grant, while attacked bitterly by the bitter partisan newspapers of the time, came through with a clean record.

Schuyler Colfax, vice president, was ruined. He was popular, had been a hero, a brilliant state of Indiana, a citizen held in the highest esteem and of unblemished character when it was discovered that in his pockets were shares of the Credit Mobilier and he never appeared in public life again, following his exit from office, March 4, 1863.

But this is the story of Belknap, secretary of war in the cabinet of Grant, both during the first and second administrations. Gen. William W. Belknap had been an able soldier. He had served with Grant on the field. He was a native of Ohio, his wife was ambitious and he was poor. Social obligations of a cabinet officer were many and Mrs. Belknap was socially ambitious. "The woman than gave birth to me with her gave me of the tree, and I did eat."

Coming to the army from Iowa, General Belknap led a corps of 10,000 men in the Vickery campaign with great honor to himself. He was a man of ability but his pocket book was empty and there was social position to maintain.

In those days the army was on the frontier scattered from the Canadian to the Mexican border. Trading posts were scattered at every fort. These trading stores were concessions sold by the government to settlers. There was opportunity to charge any price the settler could get for the goods he sold over the counter to the troopers. Mrs. Belknap knew of these posts and entered into a secret agreement with a friend, Caleb Marsh of New York, whereby she

TO NIP HOLDUPS

(By Associated Press)

Philadelphia — As a result of the large number of holdups and robberies reported yesterday Director of Public Safety Butler today started a concerted 24-hour drive against bandits and holdups. "I expect to nip the others," he said, "give my lieutenants in every place a clear understanding of their duty and if they do not do their duty I will shoot them."

"I'll give my soul if one of you fellows would kill one of these guys who go around snatching pocketbooks," the director told the lieutenants.

"That would end it! During the next 24 hours let's end it, anyway. During the drive General Butler instructed the police to round up all suspects they could find."

Washington — The extraordinary maneuver by which William Gibbs McAdoo has placed himself in the hands of his friends and supporters who are to decide whether he should run as a candidate for the democratic nomination for the presidency will end in a decision to support him.

Mr. McAdoo was ready, it is said, to withdraw his name from the race when his advisors initiated the question was one for the McAdoo supporters to decide. And there are several reasons why they will not let go of Mr. McAdoo even though there may be convincing arguments as to the injury done his candidacy by the recent disclosure that he was

ALASKAN CHARGE
RESULTS IN CALL FOR NEW INQUIRY

(By Associated Press)

Washington — Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, who introduced the resolution that started the oil inquiry, made another today, together with the leading policies of Washington.

He also called a meeting of oil miners and coal operators to discuss the subject.

After an x-ray examination, this morning physicians announced that the bullet which hit Senator Green had not remained in his body.

The discovery was regarded as extremely encouraging and those in attendance said they expected him to recover.

The senator was walking with his wife when the shooting occurred less than three blocks from the capitol building. Both were hit.

The committee desires to question him particularly regarding the unpaid loan of $25,000 which his personal attorney, J. W. Zevely, has testified he made to Fall within three months after he had retired from the cabinet.

More Quiz in Lease.

Moreover, it is desired to interrogate him further about circumstances surrounding the secretaries of Teapot Dome and conference which he had with Fall at the former secretary's New Mexico ranch.

Other subjects which the committee wants to take up with him are the conditions under which he agreed to pay $1,000,000 to the Pioneer and Elgo Oil companies for their claims in the escut reserve and the contract for the payment of another $1,000,000 to the Elgo.

No lease was made, he said, but the transfer was followed by suspension of mining in the Matanuska field and refusal of the navy to utilize Alaskan coal.

LA FOLLETTE OBJECTS TO CHRISTIAN

(By Associated Press)

Washington — Objection to confirmation of George P. Christian, Jr., former secretary of President Harding, a member of the federal trade commission, was raised today by Senator LaFollette, republican, of Wisconsin, on the grounds that while at the White House, Mr. Christian had interested himself in an important case that is now pending before the committee.

The case is that of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, against which the commission issued a complaint in May, 1921.

Senator LaFollette's opposition was announced after Commissioner Illustr Thompson had testified at a hearing before the committee that he was called to the White House by Mr. Christian and criticized for having acted without giving the company a hearing.

St. Paul — How a trusted cashier became an under-clerk in the hardware concern he served so long.

Day times he was a punctual obliging employee of value in the lumber life of an office. On the other hand, he tried the boards in amateur dramatics, was a star of the club on which he rose to the post of cashier at the age of 20.

Figures in books by day, figures in dreams by night—such was the life of Dowling.

Dowling will be brought before the court Wednesday for further examination and sentenced. Under Minnesota law, the penalty for the charge is a prison term not to exceed 10 years.

The specific charge against Dowling is the theft of $700 from the company Sept. 1, 1923.

Dowling's speculations extended over a period of 10 years, during which he led a dual life. Cultured, a college graduate, with marked ability in music and dramatic art, by night he lived in a dream world he had forsaken when at sixteen he gave up his hopes of stage success.

Red Cross Directors Vote to Retain Local Office

Janesville Loses in Two Debates With Fort Teams

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the local Red Cross chapter, it was decided that the number of claims in which the chapter has given aid and comfort justify the expense of maintaining the office, and nothing for donations should the funds be exhausted before another roll call next November.

The organization has given service during the month of January in 51 World war cases, two cases of men now in service, and 27 civilian cases. In the latter class were included some Spanish and Civil war men, whose service to World war men, which has no relation to their war records.

Some of the services rendered are: Securing of certified copies of marriages; death and birth records; assistance given in having hospital pay allowed; extension of time asked for men in placement remaining in Fort Atkinson, one of whom, John P. Atkinson, and another there, were sent by 10 decisions.

The affirmative team, which consisted of Sven Sorenson, Martin McElroy, and Emmett Boos, and the negative team, which appeared at Fort Atkinson of R. J. Walsh, Malcolm Haveland, and William McGowan.

counsel for E. L. Doheny, oil magnate in Mexican matters.

One reason is that the withdrawal of Mr. McAdoo would leave up in the air all the supporters who had been compelled to play into the hands of the anti-McAdoo forces in the democratic party.

The friction inside the party is far more significant than the personality of the candidate. It is a difference on fundamentals and resembles very much the condition of affairs which preceded the Baltimore convention of 1912 when the progressives and reactionaries were battling for control of the party.

The Anti-McAdoo

Not a few of the anti-McAdoo influences are of the boss-ruled kind who fought Woodrow Wilson not only at Baltimore but later on. The McAdoo men are determined that if their leader is not nominated they will elect someone else of some one who is in harmony with the McAdoo-Wilson wing of the party.

Even if Mr. McAdoo's candidacy were unwise—and most of his friends are not yet ready to believe that an honest record is anything to be ashamed of—there is every likelihood that the momentum of the McAdoo boom is too important to the progressive elements in the democratic party to let it be dissipated by the recent disclosures.

On the other hand, if Mr. McAdoo survives the next few weeks of political bombardment and the oil controversy takes on a turn more damaging to the republican administration, there is no telling what effect the whole affair will have on the McAdoo boom.

WILL TALK LATER

Rumors are of course floating about to the effect that the senatorial investigating committee purposefully avoided an extensive interrogation of Mr. McAdoo, particularly concerning his practice for clients before the treasury department, soon after he resigned as senator, the democratic administration was still in power. The talk is that the republicans preferred to interrogate Mr. McAdoo after he had been nominated for the presidency on the democratic ticket to eliminate him from the race at this stage of the game.

Although these differences that anything is wrong are undoubtedly unfounded, sufficient data can be had on matters of that kind and seeks always to put the opposition in an unfavorable light. There is nothing illegal or corrupt in practicing before federal departments or accepting fees from corporations as a private citizen, but the political mind regards contact with wealth and large corporations as susceptible of discussion on the stump, and presumably impairment of a candidate, especially for the highest office in the land.

The McAdoo supporters had been making remarkable headway. Undoubtedly they already had gathered majority strength and were close to the two-thirds requirement. Some discouragement has been encountered since the senate committee's exposure that Mr. McAdoo was not a lawyer. If he were not for the unpopularity of the attack, many of his friends who see the damage done would abandon his candidacy. Loyalty to him as well as a desire to keep intact the strength already developed for the pro-Wilson kind of the nominating race. The meeting of loyalty and support in Chicago from all present indications will influence the return of William Woods McAdoo. In this will turn into a demonstration of the nominating race. The meeting of loyalty and support

SOCIAL FORECAST

In commemoration of the birthday of George Washington, Friday, three affairs at least have been scheduled. For many weeks members of the Junior MacDowell club have been preparing an operetta "When George Washington Was a Boy," which is to be presented at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The Elks Lodge will give a social and formal dinner at the same night at Apollo hall, with several dinner parties to precede the affair. George McKey is arranging for a special dinner to accommodate members of the Colonial club for that night. Daughters of the G. A. R. and members of the Women's Relief Corps have been invited to a Washington day party at W. H. Sargent post, G. A. R., in preparation for Friday afternoon in East Side hall.

Another event for Friday, while not a Washington anniversary affair, is the entertainment which Ralph Blagham is to give at Methodist church as a number of the lyceum course. Arthur Shattock, eminent Wisconsin pianist, is to give a lecture on the same night at the First Congregational.

Pertaining to Y. W. C. A. activities is the regular supper of the Business and Professional Women's club, Monday night. "The Charm of Personality" is the subject of the talk by Mrs. L. A. Markham. Music is to be furnished by a trio from the Wisconsin School for the Blind. The state conference of the Girl Reserves opens Friday night.

St. Mary's congregation is arranging for a reception Tuesday night, honoring the recent assistant, the Rev. Francis Flanagan, who is now stationed at Fond du Lac. A purse, the gift of the congregation, is to be presented by the Rev. Charles M. Olson, and other gifts will be the usual. The regular ladies' Sociality of the All Lydia Melchior, president of the society.

Entertainments with local talent appearing are popular for the week's attractions. St. John's church will be the scene of an entertainment Tuesday night, sponsored by the Ladies Aid. The O. E. S. will entertain on Wednesday evening, Wednesday night, at MacDowell temple, while the K. of C. circus at the old high school building runs throughout the week. The fourth annual marchet ball of the Loyalty Order of Moose will be put on Friday night, with prizes to induce those who attend to costume themselves accordingly.

Westminster Meets—Monday, Westminster Society will meet Monday night at Presbyterian church. Supper will be served at 6:15, with Miss Grace Beilung in charge. Those who cannot come are to notify her. Mrs. J. A. Nohose has charge of the program at which the annual thank offering will be presented.

Mrs. Hannum's Hostess—Mrs. George Hannum, North Washington street, entertained eight women, Friday afternoon. Five hundred dollars and prizes taken by Mrs. Martha Lautenslager, Mrs. Charles Hanney and Mrs. Bert Rogers. A three course lunch was served.

Valentine Party Given—Members of the K. K. K. club and a few of their friends were entertained at the Valentine party, Friday night, at the home of Mrs. Jessie Johnson, 332 Palm crest. Bridge was played and prizes taken by the Misses Mabel Weidemann, Gladys Wolcott, Clarence Gums and Earl Atkinson.

Music and dancing were also diversions. A two course lunch was served at one large table made attractive with valentine favors.

Entertainment at St. John's Church—Ladies' Aid of St. John's Lutheran church will present an entertainment at 7:30 Tuesday night in the church parlor. Sixteen will give the play "Sophronia's Wedding." Music is to be furnished by an orchestra composed of Mrs. George

MUSIC

The MacDowell club will hold the February meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Albert Schuhler, 1115 Mineral Point avenue. Mrs. Edward Dutcher and Mrs. Roy Parker have arranged the program which has for its theme, "Nationality in Composed Music."

Those who will take part are: Mrs. Roy Parker, Mrs. F. S. Richards, Mrs. William Skiffen, Mrs. Henry Traxler, and Mrs. Lowell Thorntone; Mrs. Gerald Cunningham, Miss Ada Pond, piano and Mrs. Bruce Stone, violin.

Rehearsals for "When Washington Was a Boy" to be presented by the Junior MacDowell club Friday night at the high school auditorium are progressing favorably. The entertainment will be open to parents and friends of Junior MacDowell members. The senior club is expected to be in attendance.

The first part of the entertainment will be in keeping with the spirit of the day, various valentine characters to be represented. Miss Mabel Showers, assistant supervisor of music in the schools, will be in charge.

An opera for young people, "When Washington Was a Boy," by Morris will comprise the second part; and in addition to the chorus will have the following cast of characters: George Washington, (aged about ten years); Rusticus Washington, his mother; Lawrence, his older brother; Mr. Edgerton, a friend of the Washington family; Miss Fairfax, fiancee of Lawrence Washington; Mr. Hobley, George's school teacher; four ladies, friends of the Washingtons; and William Lee, negro boy. "Mammy" is the mother; "Uncle Tom" a negro servant; a negro woman, name plantation workers. The scenes will be in a garden on the Washington estate.

Gladys Miller gave "Sing Me to Sleep." A valentine box was one of the features with each guest receiving a favor. A tray lunch was served at 5 p.m.

Washington Party Given—Miss Lillian Scoville, 117 Court street, was hostess to an evening club, Friday, entertaining with a Washington party. Five hundred was played and prizes taken by Miss Hazel Arthur, Miss Adele Fuchs, entitled, "The Ladies' Aid." Proceeds of the entertainment will be used to assist in paying the remaining debt incurred in paying the decoration of the church and Sunday school rooms.

10 at Valentine Party—Miss Helen Anderson, 525 Cherry street, entertained in her home. There, on the occasion of her tenth birthday, heart cards and a large cake decorated with red candies made sensible decorations.

The guests were Mary Tuite, Catherine Daly, Margaret Mary Croft, Helen Fraunfelder, Marlon Morstad, Corrine Condon, Margaret Malterer, Catherine Dick, and Genevieve Sutton. Gifts were presented to the hostess.

Tuesday, FEB. 19.

League Meets Monday—The League of Women Voters will hold the regular meeting at 2:30 Monday afternoon in the basement of the public library. Oscar Nelson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will give a talk on "County Government."

Blackhawk Nine Gathers—The Blackhawk Nine club was entertained Friday night by Mrs. William Mahnberg, 473 Blackhawk street. Five hundred was played and prizes taken by Mrs. Robert Daly and Mrs. A. Carlson. Lunch was served.

Legion Auxiliary Meets—The Royal Neighbors Social club, Triumph camp, will meet Wednesday afternoon, for a card party at the home of Mrs. Charles Ward, 514 Prospect avenue. All Royal Neighbors and their friends are invited.

R. N. A. Social Club to Meet—The Royal Neighbors Social club, Triumph camp, will meet at 7:30 Monday night at Janesville Center. New members to be initiated at 8 p.m.

Garden Club Heats Flower Talk—Members of the Garden club meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Van Kirk, 225 Milton avenue, Friday afternoon, listened to an interesting talk on the floral side of the new course of Wisconsin given by Samuel C. Wadmon. Dehaven, Mr. Wadmon illustrated his talk with examples from his herbarium.

The speaker has been deeply interested in the study of wild flowers for 25 years and speaks with authority as one who has acquired his knowledge from careful study and observation. He has made valuable contributions to the published data of Wisconsin flora, having done extensive work for the state university. He is connected with the exchange of several colleges and universities, including Harvard.

Mr. Wadmon is a business man, studying of horticulture for a hobby. His general interests for two years, with a Y. M. C. A. unit.

ACCEPTED PLANS FOR NEW HOTEL

Will Have Many Attractive Features—Finance Plan Made Public.

Additional steps have been taken in the matter of the new hotel to which the Gazette gave publicity three weeks ago. The new plans are here and after the fullest investigation, the Chamber of Commerce has approved the plan of financing and the matter has been turned over to a committee for action.

What the hotel is designed to be one of the finest in the state of Wisconsin in the size of Janesville, with many features which are not of other hotels in the state, is emphasized by the architect's plans. They show a building changed in some details from the first elevation pictured printed in the Gazette. The most notable addition to the beauty of the building, it remains in a general way as the Gazette first described it, but there are additional features, most pleasing and added to make the hotel a center of attraction for all the tourists who travel in this section, or which by proper advertising may be brought here. There will be six stories and 150 rooms. The same frontage and depth of 100 and 110 feet remains with the structure in the form of an L.

In order to build as to make an additional 50 feet available if needed, and to take in the section of the frontage on West Milwaukee and High street, now occupied by the filling station, the architecture is made more attractive and the entrance, instead of being in the middle of the W., in Milwaukee street front, will be the W., which eventually will be the center of the building when the addition on the west end is erected. That gives additional room for dining parlors and the same number of stories will occupy space from the ground.

One of the attractive features of the hotel will be a sunken garden enclosed in an 8 foot artistic brick and terra cotta wall in the rear of the east wing. It is to be large enough to accommodate 300 people to be used also for dining and pleasure with orchestra and band. There is a large dining room on the main floor and a banquet room and grill in the basement. This banquet room will seat 250 or 275 persons and can be used for the largest formal and informal affairs by the different clubs and organizations in this section.

Tourist Attractions.

Janesville has grown as a place to which tourists come and stay. It is not stay. They have need of attractions and greater accommodations. One of the features of the hotel in the large garage, as shown in the original drawing by Mr. Schaefer, will be a room 20x20, large enough to hold 100 cars, with an entrance from the garage directly into the hotel. The mezzanine floor has a number of large sample rooms opening from it, and they can be used for small dinners and private parties. Business meetings, as well as for traveling salesmen with sample displays.

The plans provide for every convenience for guests while the newest hotel architecture demands. The rooming floors are in modern style, many rooms, with tub baths and shower in size are the average hotel room.

Price of Flamingo.

The total cost of the hotel is estimated at $500,000. Of this the Sparling interests put in $100,000 in cash, then there is a first mortgage bond of $200,000 on the property and the $300,000 to be raised in Janesville. The deed for the Lovelock property it is stated will be completed early next week and placed on record.

The financing plan which has been accepted by the Chamber of Commerce and a written agreement entered into with the Sparlings' promoters, is that the citizens of Janesville will contribute $100,000 for the purchase of that amount of second mortgage bonds, bearing interest at 7 per cent. The promoters of the hotel are to raise $300,000 for the building. The second mortgage bonds have a prior call on the earnings of the hotel and the profits are to be paid to the other guests until the interest and retainer fees are completed in reference to the holdings of the local purchasers of the second mortgage bonds. After the second year at least 5 per cent of the bonds are to be retired annually and all are to be taken up within a period of 11 years.

The program has been examined by bankers and business men and has been accepted.

READ FEW CHOSEN BOOKS AND READ THEM WELL, IS PLEA

Father and son relationships, spoken of especially in regard to John, was the subject of the Rev. H. A. Studebaker of Beloit, the first speaker at the Father and Son banquet given by the young men's group of the county V. M. C. at Emerald Grove, Friday night. Discouraged the reading of too many books and magazines but advised rather the reading of a few, well chosen, that will be to constructive thinking. This, he pointed out, was the reason for Lincoln's intellectual supremacy.

Winford Ransom, one of the leaders of the group, spoke on "Things I Have Learned from My Son," John McArthur, a member, also spoke. The toastmaster was Harry Jones. Rev. Frank Jackson is joint leader of the group with Ransom.

Supper was served by the mothers of the "V. M. C." group. Sixty-five men and boys attended. The banquet was followed by games.

RACINE BLIND MAN ACHIEVES SUCCESS AS PIANO TUNER

In scores of cities of the middle west may be found graduates of the Wisconsin school for the blind, Janesville, making their own way in the world and asking assistance from no one.

Bachie has Charles Raush, a blind piano tuner, brother of Miss Clara Raush, cadet at the state school here. Mr. Raush is a graduate of the Janesville school. He has been blind for 39 years and for 18 years has been making a success of himself as a piano tuner in Racine.

Eight children, in the Raush family, four are blind. One brother is a rug weaver in Milwaukee and a sister is at Sunny Rest sanatorium.

LACK OF EVIDENCE IN KARACHOOON CASE

Lack of evidence was given by Assistant U. S. District Attorney Stanley M. Ryan, Janesville, as the reason for dismissal of Alexander Karachooon, 26, from federal custody at Madison, Friday. Karachooon, arrested here a week ago as a suspect in the kidnaping of George E. Fox, found in his room here and which contained a check raising outfit and a number of fake "certified" checks.

suits obtained from a post mortem examination showed that in the 12 months that Ed. Schaefer had slept in his coffin, traces of poisoning had disappeared.

Dr. C. H. Bunting, professor of pathology at the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. C. W. Bunting, state toxicologist, both only gave their opinions to those already given that strichnine poisoning caused Ed. Schaefer's death. They admitted that they found no strichnine in the post mortem examination conducted Oct. 6, 1923, at Whitewater.

Miss Mildred Johnston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Johnston, was married in Chicago, today, to George Roland of Pittsburgh, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Roland will live in Pittsburgh.

WILL RECEIVE BIDS FOR 20 MESS HALLS

Rockford—Bids will be received Feb. 26 in Chicago for the construction of 20 new mess halls and other buildings at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., to house national guard at their summer training camp. Major General Milton J. Foreman has announced.

Dr. Charles E. Dike, Whitewater

physician, formerly of Johnstown, who attended Schaefer in his last illness and was surprised when he was apparently recovering when he was first seen, was the first of several qualified witnesses who testified their belief that strichnine poisoning caused death.

Dr. Dike attended Schaefer but twice during the week he was ill, calling on March 12 and 14, he testified.

Thought It Suited.

On cross-examination, he was again forced to admit that he had falsified the death certificate of Edward Schaefer when he gave influenza as the cause of death instead of strichnine poisoning, which he said he suspected had been the cause.

"I thought it suited," he said.

He was asked if he had attempted to shield someone, Dr. Dike asked:

"Wasn't you attempting to shield someone, Dr. Dike?" asked Attorney Zabel.

"Only the children, I thought, it was a case of suicide," he replied.

District Attorney Godfrey questioned him again and the information given was identical with that given by Mr. Schaefer.

They Be Reduced?

The answer to that question is in the votes of the insurgent republican or democratic members of congress. Both have been playing politics with a sad disregard for the people back home. Both have organized machines for the purpose of seemingly defeating the reduction of taxes, no matter at what cost, and it is even doubtful if any two named of those groups actually agree on a plan except as directed by the political managers of their factions and parties. The republican majority of the ways and means committee has pinned its faith on a compromise measure.

The democrats have agreed to vote for no plan but one of their own. The republican leaders have shown a spirit that means tax reduction. The democrats do not want any compromise because they would have no campaign material should they support a tax reduction bill prepared by republicans. Thus is the political peanut business kept alive.

The insurgent republicans must have their way because they must. That is no reason, but a sufficient excuse. Tax legislation should be a nonpartisan affair. It should demand less politics and more patriotism. It should demand also a certain amount of compromise of extremes. The country is tired out with bickering and attempts to stink first base in the game of politics as it is being played in Washington. We believe the public has arrived at the stage now where regardless of name of law or anything else, it wants tax reduction and wants it at once.
Hail splitting over a few percentages will get nowhere. Let us try the 35 per cent surtax and see if it works out. The ways and means committee has arrived at the conclusion that this is the compromise which they will, in majority, support on the floor of the house. It is more than Mr. Mellon had suggested and less than Mr. Garner insists upon. When one gets down to brass tacks it is found that taxes are reduced amazingly under the committee bill and the amendments acceptable to the majority of the committee.

If that bill passes, taxes will be less all along the line. That's what we want. It is just as good for the democrat as the republican. It is just as good for the nonpartisan leader or the Farmer-Laborite or the followers after the Insurgent members as it is for the republicans. It is the second thing in life certain and common to all, and the other is death.

Mr. Coolidge has presented the issue for the

take off the burden and get back to where there will be less money to tempt to extravagance in government.

Government Pays Less

The Gazette has registered its belief heretofore that the proposed department of the government fostered by Dr. Sawyer, for a combination of bureau of education, the veterans' bureau, the public health service and the social service, will not work out satisfactorily. In support of this contention the Commissioner of Education, John J. Tigert, has said in testifying at a hearing on the proposal that he was of the opinion that it would not succeed. One of the reasons given was that the trained men and women who have arrived at distinction in the service of the government have left to accept private positions paying salaries far more than the government allows. It would be hard to make an effective organization and a separate department within the proposed cost when salaries for public service are so low as to be no inducement to the trained men and women to accept. The government is notoriously a poor salary payer and the rate for clerks is not at all in accord with what the same grade of work demands when private persons, firms or corporations are the employers. Salaries based on old schedules are no longer to be thought of but the government wage scale is low and not at all in keeping with the pay of other similar labor.

LIVE FISH IN MARKET

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—During the Christmas season the eel is the national food of Italians and they are willing to pay almost any price for it. To supply this unusual seasonal demand to the Italian population in New York it is necessary to catch the eels for months in advance and keep them alive in tanks, for the son of sunny Italy insists on buying his eels alive in order to be sure that they are fresh.

Last year one dealer alone shipped 160,000 pounds of live eels to New York from the extensive fisheries near Quebec, sending them by barge through Lake Champlain and down the Hudson River. The dealers in the fish markets in the city in turn kept the eels alive in large tanks.

One of the dealers in the famous Fulton Fish Market decided that he would sell if he could not put his eel-tanks to good use all the year around, storing and supplying live fish of all kinds to hotels and restaurants, and as a result of his experiment it is expected that there will develop an entirely new order of things in fish marketing.
Fresh fish will now be really fresh when they come to the table.

Eople have long contended that no one knew the true gastronomic delights of the trout and other fish who had not eaten them within an hour after they had been taken from the water.
Heretofore that has meant that only a fortunate few could ever become acquainted with those delights. However, with the new developments in the handling, transportation and storage of live fish it is promised that fish eaten hundreds of miles away from the source of the particular members of the finny tribe they favor can all become epicures.

Also it is promised that fish as a food will be made appreciably more digestible and healthful and that is of even greater importance.

The New York dealer's first shipment consisted of some 5,000 pounds of lake trout from Canada.
The fish were placed in four wooden tanks, seven feet long and five feet deep, which were shipped in an ordinary box car. The water in the tanks was kept in constant circulation by means of a kerosene-driven engine, and fully 85 per cent of the fish came through the journey in good shape.
Even the 15 per cent loss was attributed largely to overcrowding and careless handling.

In the metropolitan hotels and restaurants the live fish are kept in glass tanks where the patrons can inspect them and make their selections. It is even possible that insistent customers might be permitted to "go fishing" in the tanks, or at least to use the dip net hook and line we're barred. Anything and everything to please the patron seems to be the big idea, and as long as the patron is willing to foot the bill perhaps he is entitled to the indulgence.

There are things that the most up-to-date restaurant can not provide his clientele. He can not give them the joy of sloshing around in a stream in hipboots for two or three hours, chasing the elusive trout or bass, or the appetite that comes from such exercise. However, if present plans are developed as outlined he will be able to furnish everything except the exercise and appetite, and he will offer a choice line of sauces and condiments as substitutes for those.

Experts say that the transportation of live fish by no means a simple matter. It does not suffice merely to keep the fish in water. They must be protected against death from rough handling, over-crowding, suffocation, and change of temperature, or most of them will be a total loss before they reach their destination. In the case of deep-sea fish, the first problem is to keep them alive from the time they are taken from the nets until the fishing smacks can reach shore, which is frequently a matter of two or three days. The generally accepted method of doing this is to provide a space built in the hold known as the "well" in which the water circulates freely.

Fish that are to be marketed after must, obviously, be handled with extreme care, and one way of eliminating rough handling is by simply doing no handling at all. Boats with their tanks aboard steam up to the big nets, cans are sunk into the nets, and the fish are transferred without being touched by the hand. When it is necessary to handle them, care must be taken not to squeeze or bruise them, or to injure their gills. Broken gills mean speedy death.

Mr. Coolidge has presented the issue for the people. It is up to congress to stand by and take off the burden and get back to where there will be less money to tempt to extravagance in

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST.

LITTLE CHILDREN

Little children make a clatter,
Always something is the matter.
Shriek and shout and bang and noise
Follow little girls and boys;
Many a treasured thing is broken,
Many an angry word is spoken,
Many a youthful brawl or riot
Interrupts the hour of quiet.

Little children in a dwelling
Often indulge in needless yelling.
There's a small crowd of noisy, crumbly,
Smudgy fingers, smudgy toes,
Muddy feet, and toys discarded;
However the home is guarded;
Constant scolding and forbidding
Where the little ones are living.

Little children keep you busy
Picking up until you're dizzy;
There's no end, it seems unto
All the things you have to do,
And in spite of your endeavor,
Still disorder reigns forever;
Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday,
Any day the home's untidy.

Right, you are, oh, weary mother!
But I'll take you to another House where the children are still,
Where no racket ever will be,
Set its owners to complaining,
And where order's prim is reigning.
Lovely house! But could you bear it
If you had no child to share it?

SPUR OF THE MOMENT

BY ROY C. Moulton

LEAP YEAR INCIDENT

"Tis leap year, you know," she cooed and,
And hung her delightful brown bonnet broad;
"And so I've the right to vote a plea;
O, Nobe! Youth will you marry me?"

The lad for a moment was quite nonplussed.
For never before had he been thrust
In such a position, but ready wit Succeeded in getting him out of it.

"Your asking, dear lady, flatters me
To such an extent I can scarcely see.
But can you support me in the style
To which I'm accustomed?" he said with glee.

"Alas," she responded, "my means are small;
I hadn't considered that at all!"

"Well, that being so, I will stay with mother,"
He said, "and to you I will be a brother."

HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1924.

Again the planets appear to frown on Earth according to astrology. Saturn, Mars and Mercury are all in inauspicious today. Venus is friendly in the evening.

Caution should be the watchword while the comets prevail, for the stars are believed to have shifted power, thwarting, defeating and afflicting humanity.

Farmers probably will find many unsatisfactory conditions as the spring opens, but although nature may be unkind, legislators may offer relief from financial burdens.

The aged should be particularly careful to guard the health at this time. Many death-like heart disease will be recorded.

The Moon's adverse aspect to Saturn and Mercury renders this morning of this day especially unfavorable for signing leases or contracts of any sort.

Owing to the planetary influences there may be peculiar craving for warmth and comfort to please. The usual power of physical resistance to unpleasant climatic conditions may be much reduced.

Spring among the poor and losses on the part of those who have small means are probably increased while this rule prevails.

There is a sign indicating an access of craft and double-dealing in business and political matters.

Women should be especially circumspect in all their dealings during this day's business hours.

This evening should be auspicious for sociability in all its forms, as there is promise of success for musical entertainments.

Legislation beneficial to women and to workers is prognosticated, although congress is to have a session that is unusually barren in achievement.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather a busy and stressful year. They should be extraordinarily careful in signing contracts. The young court and marry.

Children born on this day may be rather difficult to manage, but they should be exceedingly talented. Give many misery widowers men much older than themselves.

Guarding the fish against the ill effects of changes in temperature is simply a matter of seeing that the cans in which they are transported, or the rooms where they are stored, are kept at an even temperature. That involves trouble and expense, but is not such a difficult matter.

Protecting the finny travelers against the danger of suffocation is not so easily accomplished.
The water in which they are housed must be circulated constantly or at regular intervals, but they can be given too much oxygen as well as too little and the former may be almost as disastrous as the latter. Various shippers have various devices for solving this problem, the best of which is said to have originated in Germany not long ago. It is described as consisting of a tank with oxygen tube attached, and so arranged that it will feed itself air in the proper proportions, thus doing away with the need for an attendant on the journey.

A more simple scheme, which is comparable with most home made devices, is for an attendant to blow air into the water in the fish tanks at regular intervals with an automobile tire pump.
This is a system of operating that may be overdone, however, through carelessness or a lack of intelligence on the part of the attendant. Another method consists merely of dipping water from the tank and permitting it to drip back slowly, taking in air as it falls. There can be too little or too much of this, also. Still another device is to screw on the top of each can a tin cap with an inner false bottom, perforated with tiny holes.
When the can is tilted the water runs into the cap, and then when the can is returned to a perpendicular position, the water drips back in a shower, thus aerating itself.

Of course there are other problems involved in bringing live fish to the kitchen, or practically there, such as feeding them and the length of time it is feasible to undertake to keep them alive, but the prospect is held out, nevertheless, of its being possible for people to buy live fish in their markets, "no matter how far they are from the sound of the sea."

about them too is that all are printed in the English language. That may be why New York couldn't support them better.

MONEY AND MARKETS

Wall Street—Laying less and less attention to politics, the stock market appears to be increasingly disposed to look strictly to the future of business, concentrating attention upon forthcoming industrial developments. This has naturally tended to give a greater stability to prices and has helped to move some shares at least, upward at a rate that might not have been possible had attention been too closely concentrated upon Washington and the European capitals. Conditions during the week have at all events been decidedly hopeful and the business outlook has seemed to warrant them.

Headjutting Prices

Action on the part of the American Woolen company in adjusting its prices has been received by the market as a matter of great interest because of the outlook it presents with reference to the business situation. There is a growing opinion in the textile field that good business conditions will be maintained, not by trying to mark prices up or even to hold them at high levels, but by making adjustments all around to existing values. Business leaders have been much impressed with the statements made by British bankers in recent addresses, which have taken the view that existing high prices in the United States were the best guarantee of profitable markets for their products. This and the difficulty that is being experienced in getting rid of surplus products by exporting them have brought conviction to many minds that it will be necessary to reduce our home values rather than to permit them to go higher. The facts lately given out by the Bureau of Labor Statistics and others are to the effect that general wholesale prices are on an average receding rather than increasing, and this tendency is taken in financial circles as one of the best indications that demand will be sustained by the adoption of wise business policies tending to control and regulate it rather than reduce it. Meantime the purchasing of steel, copper, building materials in general and in fact basic articles of production all through the list has gone on favorably and with a strong and sustained demand. Reports of the steel companies show that they are making profits and that their prices are the briskest. The latest instance is seen in the figures of the Republic Steel company for last year, showing profits of $15 on the ordinary share. Note that the companies are again working at large capacity, there is every reason for believing that the results of a year will be equally satisfactory. The present situation is far from doubt that in the absence of some unexpected disturbing factor automobile sales will be held up to their high level while the readjustments that are taking place in the textile trade tend to correct the more or less trouble-some conditions that have existed there and to bring them back into line with other basic business.

Forests Situation Calmly Viewed

As time has passed, there has been a good deal less disposition to take an alarmist view of the labor situation in England and a greater inclination to feel that some of the policies of the new government there would be distinctly to the interest of certain business all around. One of these is the recognition of Russia, which appears to promise a restoration of trade at an earlier date than would otherwise have been practicable. On the other hand, the prospect of reparations adjustments, although certainly not very encouraging from any immediate standpoint, is a potential factor of considerable moment and importance, the feeling being that unless something is done at an early date to restore buying power on the Continent our export trade may suffer even more severely than hitherto. That these questions are now being given negligible weight which is viewed as much more hopeful than any that has come to light on that subject for a good while past. Trade with Oriental countries and with South America is holding its own very well, and the number of spots at which a better outlook or an improved economic condition can be definitely noted is increasing rapidly. Meanwhile, however, the tendency of the financial community is to keep strictly away from commitments in foreign currencies pending the time when there is some definite information as to the probable value of these monies.

Fear of Political Decline

Whether rapidly or slowly, the fear of hostile political activity has declined. Word comes from Washington through authoritative channels that nothing is to be expected on the railroad question due to the various divisions of opinion which have sprung up, and that even the Senate is divided on the proposed amendment to the constitution which would make it illegal to be able to impose certain taxes for any decisive action, even if the controlling element could agree upon a program which it was willing to adhere to. On banking and currency the report is equally clear cut that nothing will be done at the present session. Some unwise measures are expected to be introduced in one house, the other one or two than next Monday, for the revision of the National Bank Act, but there appears to be no reason for anticipating any action on them. As for interference with stock exchanges or with speculation, that now appears to be out of the question so far as Washington is concerned. There is, however, some new phase of the prospect not yet visible. On tax reform the chance of getting something that would be satisfactory is quite as good as it has been, even though it might be necessary to pass through a stage of concession to various individuals who want to get what they regard as a share of the spoils under the party label to the proposed enactment. The interesting thing is that the republican majority in the ways and means committee has committed itself to a definite tax reduction bill for early passage through the house of representatives. Certainly the prospect that some measure of relief will be obtained in this direction is improving. This in itself is a highly encouraging factor from the standpoint of general business.

Financial Outlook the Best

Careful inquiry during the past week, both at Washington and elsewhere, has shown that the reported trouble with the so-called "Northwestern" banks has not yet localized and has no general importance. The action of the secretary of the treasury in suspending the issue of savings certificates is little more than a concession to expediency. Putting the country as a whole banking is in a safe position, while the abnormally strong position of the reserve system is emphasized by the ratio reported for the past week as 82.1 per cent. So extraordinarily high is the holding of gold that Reserve banks have been unable to provide in full two parts, showing two instances of reserves amounting to over 100 per cent against notes, the other of 65 per cent or so against deposits. Public absorptive power for securities is undiminished and the strong position of the government is illustrated by the rapid advance of Liberty bonds to a point closely approximating par in most instances.

TODAY'S MARKET

Future may display more hesitation due to profit-taking sales, but it is reasonable to suppose that the benefits thus enumerated have been fully discounted. All that is needed to put the market on a permanently better footing is the passage of the tax reduction bill.

Oil Controversy Is Cause Behind Market Setback

New York—Stock prices received a sharp setback this week on selling believed to have been inspired by the growing uneasiness over the Washington oil situation.

Washington, as is naturally favorable, to the oil trade was encouraged by the unexpectedly large increase in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation made public last Saturday and the announcement that a large part of the proceeds of the $150,000,000 Japanese loan would be spent in this country, but steel shares lost ground with the rest.

Oils were subjected to repeated bear attacks despite further advances in mid-continent and Pennsylvania crude and a further reduction in crude oil production and for some wide fluctuations in the specialties, particularly such issues as Fisher Body, General Electric, Kresge and Conglomerate.

A New Kind of INDEPENDENCE

Almost a century and a half ago our forefathers declared their rights as free and independent citizens. Led by the indomitable Washington such independence was won only after a bitter struggle of years.

Today your independence is made easier by a Savings Account with this Bank. A dollar starts one and at our rate of interest increases rapidly with the passing years. Why not declare your independence today? Your Bank Book is your Declaration.

WISCONSIN POWER LIGHT & HEAT CO.

Preferred 7% Capital Stock

When you invest in Wisconsin Power Light & Heat Co. shares you know how and where your money is used. You can see the properties. You use the service. You know how essential it is. You know the industry is safe, growing every day.

Arrange now for an extra income by investing a little each month in the safe, progressive business that supplies your utility service. Four more pay days every year will come in mighty handy.

The company serves, without competition, communities located in some of the best agricultural and dairy sections in the state of Wisconsin.

When the average user of a Public Utility Service, or the average investor supplying such a service, makes use of its product, or puts his money into it to get an income, he has behind the service rendered, in the investment made, the genius and research of generations.

Men and women in every walk of life are taking advantage of our Customer Ownership plan, becoming partners in this growing home industry and sharing in its earnings. This means community growth, business expansion and safety for savings.

Now is the time for you to buy.

Last Pin Quins Appear, Sunday; 2840 Is Cracked

Five-man shooting in the 22nd annual Wisconsin state bowling tournament will come to an end at midnight Sunday and mark the close of the 31st day of hammering on the Grebe & Newman alleys. The doubles and singles will close their bombardment at 5 p.m., Monday. When the last ball has been rolled, the greatest state tourney ever held anywhere in the universe, and the second greatest kegelandbund on record, will have ended a month and a day of a successful run. Not for years has there been such a tourney as that held at Janesville. The five-man, doubles and singles competitors have rammed the wood for excellent marks, despite the week of dullness that has prevailed since last Sunday.

Bulletin

A new ninth place in doubles of the state pin tourney was set up Saturday morning when G. Furtman and W. Koehle, Milwaukee, hit 424. Their score:

G. Furtman 168 184 175 185
W. Koehle 238 205 211 673
Total 424 399 380 324

By FRANK SINCLAIR

BASKETBALL is the wonder game of American athletics. Referring once more to the dope gathered by Howard Tower, editor of the rules committee, he points to the fact that the game was first introduced and had only three years of experimentation before it was standardized in such manner that it has remained fundamentally the same ever since. Its popularity was immediate and widespread and has grown by leaps each year since. "These facts," says Tower, "stamp basketball as a natural game in the annals of athletic achievement." And its inventor (Dr. James Naismith) is one of the great geniuses in the annals of athletic achievement. It is worth nothing in passing that basketball was devised as a TEAM game and thus wherever it is popular it is the great popularity through the attraction of spectators to its team play that prevails.

Michigan hockey team beats Wis-consin, 3-0.

Franklin Allen, Chicago, wins U. S. skating title at Saranac Lake.

Oscar Swanson, St. Paul, rolls into first of I. B. A. pin singles with 704.

BASKETBALL DRIBBLES

Interest in conference basketball race Saturday night will center chiefly in game between Purdue and Michigan at Ann Arbor, and Illinois appearance at Wisconsin, first game Wisconsin has played since Maroons defeated them, Jan. 26. Chicago has what rated as competitive game against conference foes, with 20,000 in attendance. Indiana and Ohio will stage desperate struggle at Columbus—Illinois will just about show what is to be expected from Wisconsin—Menard has had three weeks to get his system going and it now or never. Return of Cap will add to Illinois' strength, but Indiana, Bison, 23-18—Milwaukee's round and puffed Oshkosh from first by 26-22 victory—Marquette, in last home game Saturday, playing St. Mary's college.

Peggy Williamson, Milwaukee, sets 220-yd. swim record in 3:35 4-5.

SCRAPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS

Gene Tunney, New York, light heavyweight champion, had an opportunity defending title against Martin Burke, New Orleans, at that place (15)—Fred Fulton, Minneapolis' heavyweight, scored technical knockout over Joe Mariano, Newark, N. J., at Minneapolis, Feb. 16—Samie Kuhn, Milwaukee, heavyweight, knocked out Ruthine Bishop, 23-16—Milwaukee round and puffed Oshkosh from first by 26-22 victory—Marquette, in last home game Saturday, playing St. Mary's college.

Peggy Williamson, Milwaukee, sets 220-yd. swim record in 3:35 4-5.

The Ringling, Milwaukee, wins 18-22, 21-limbs, billiards title, beating Ray Fessenden, Madison, 25-22, in 21 limns.

Elmslie Is New 18-2 Cue Champ

Chicago—Alex Elmslie, Milwaukee, is the western class A 18-2 billiards champion. The former Wisconsin state champion won his fifth game at the close of the first annual game at the Ringling, Friday night.

On the final day, he was called on to defeat Robert M. Lord of Chicago and Ray Fessenden of Madison, the present Wisconsin class A champion. Elmslie defeated Lord, 25 to 22, and Fessenden, 16 to 14, and 31 to 20, these results not disallowing the 12 limns, which failed to count. The winner had a high run of 34 and avenged 7-26-22.

Fessenden was defeated by Elmslie, 25 to 22, in 21 limns. Alex grabbed 32 for his best effort and Ray, 42.

Gold Cage Crew in Seventh Win

Madison—This is another big week for Wisconsin university in athletics. Five varsity teams will be in action Saturday.

The track team enters the quadangular relays at Evanston with Northwestern, Ohio, and Chicago, where coach T. E. Jones will see his team in competition for the first time this season.

In competition for the first time this season is the football team.

Coach Meissner's basketball team meets Illinois here in Madison Saturday night in the first conference game of the second semester and the first time these two teams have met in two years.

Friday afternoon and Saturday afternoon the track Michigan football team meets Coach Elizabeth's football team at Rockford.

The Badger wrestlers leave tonight for Menomonee where they meet the Gophers on the mat Saturday night.

Although Coach Hitchcock's team is reported in no too good shape due to the loss of two men this semester, Wisconsin hopes to win.

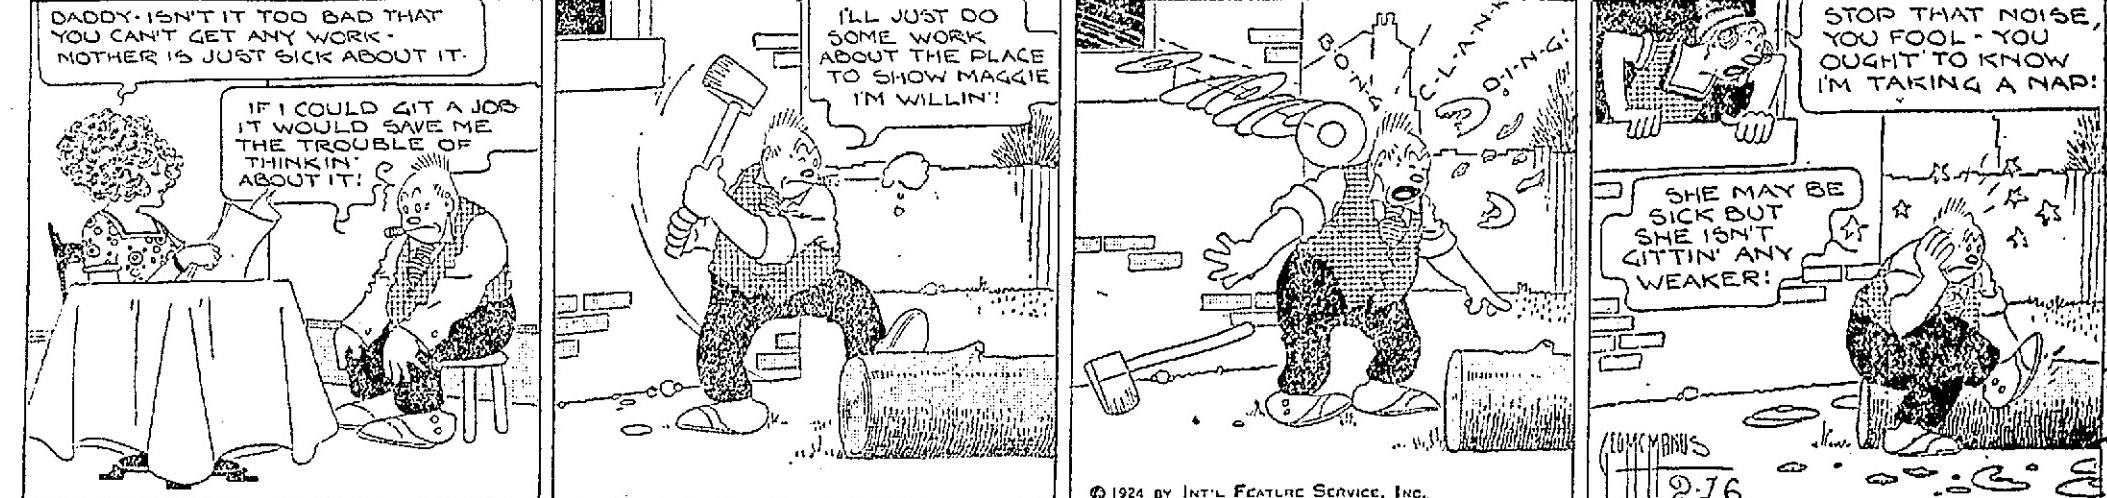

Coach Steinhauer's swimming team heads for Rockford for a dual meet with crack Milwaukee club swimmers.

CHIPEWA FALLS WINS

East Claire—Chippewa Falls high school was the victor in a triangular debate last night in which Menomonie and East Claire high schools were down to defeat.

Leaders Are Uneasy

Meanwhile, those who have been occupying the places in the first 16 in all sections are more worried as the final day comes than at any time since they cracked their way into the seats of the mighty. At least they seem fairly secure, because there was more of hope than anything else, that they would be allowed to remain among the topnotchers. Now, as the windup looms upon the horizon, fear grips them that after staying placed so long, they may be bumped off in the last few hours by a team that didn't necessarily want to get into the limelight.

This lack of getting into the lead of a tombay has its qualms of uneasiness and as the time-apparent for taking supreme honors draws to its fulfillment uneasiness always grips. "Where will we be when it is all over?" That's the riddle.

Upon the face of the situation, there are two individuals that should snatched the wood for some good-sized money counts over the weekend, but there is nothing down on the books that indicates that first place in any event is going to change. But you never can tell, especially in the game of tumbling the ten pins.

The EASY Vacuum Electric WASHER

The "EASY" VACUUM ELECTRIC WASHER is pre-eminent because it differs radically from other washers. It washes by means of air pressure and suction. The revolving vacuum cups move up and down sixty times per minute, flushing all dirt and foreign substances out of the mesh of the garments. There is no wear, tear or dragging of the clothes. Air pressure and suction washes thoroughly the heaviest blankets or the daintiest lingerie with perfect safety. Let us demonstrate the "EASY" in your own home without obligation on your part.

Easy Credit Terms

A first payment is the only cash necessary to place an "EASY" in your home. The balance can be arranged on easy payments to suit your convenience.

The Thor Electric Washer Will Help

Mr. and Mrs. John Fountain, 173 S. Jackson St.

The Thor Washer will be welcomed with grateful enthusiasm by the woman who still prefers to do her own washing. For the woman who has a reliable laundress or maid, the Thor is equally valuable, for it makes the work of washing so much easier and at the same time eliminates ALL wear and tear on the clothes. A laundress can do more than twice as much in a day with a Thor—with less than half the effort, and but a fraction of the expense of the washboard method.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Bradford, 638 Sherman Ave.

The Thor not only washes clothes but also wrings them by electricity. There's nothing left to do but feed the clothes through. The Thor is provided with a special swinging wringer which makes wringing as delightfully easy and rapid as washing by electricity.

THE THOR ELECTRIC IRONER is another laundry aid that will take the drudgery from ironing and do it better for you.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Arels, 312 Racine St.

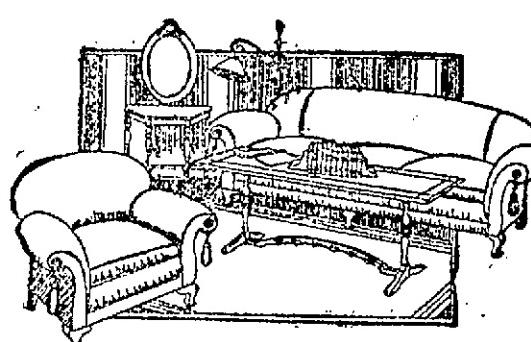

Easy time payments now enable you to enjoy Thor laundry comfort without waiting. Why not arrange to have a Thor washer or ironer delivered today? You need not pay all cash down unless you prefer to do so. Make a small initial payment and let the money you save on laundry bills and laundress' wages take care of the small monthly payments.

CRIMINAL ACTION MAY FOLLOW "TEAPOT" PROBE

Edward L. Doheny (second from right) testifying before the Senate Committee investigating the naval oil reserve leases, and (inset) Edward Beale McLean.

Criminal action is expected to follow the inquiry of a Senate committee into the leasing of the Teapot Dome oil field and other government properties by Albert Bacon Fall when secretary of interior. Edward L. Doheny, petroleum magnate, testified that he loaned Fall $100,000 without security or interest. Fall had stated previously that he borrowed

Dr. Bela Schick.

There is no need of parents of children who have been inoculated with the toxin-antitoxin for diphtheria invented by Dr. Bela Schick feeling any alarm because of the infection of a score of Concord Mass., school students given the serum, it is announced. The trouble was due to the frozen condition of the toxin-antitoxin. All of the children are recovering. Dr. Schick himself rushed to Concord to study the case. Measures have been taken to prevent a recurrence of the condition in the serum.

"GOOD FRIENDS" OF BUTTERFLIES NOW DODGE SPOTLIGHT

Louise Lawson (left, above) Charlotte Wakefield (center), Gerhard M. Dahl, Mrs. Mary Hartwell (left, below) and the late Angier B. Duke (right).

There is much hurrying and scurrying in New York on the part of men who are good friends of collapsed vests. Two moths, murdered under mysterious circumstances within a few months have crucified, on a cross of nemenpoles, men prominent in business and social life.

The murder of Miss Louise Lawson, mannequin, and motion picture player, in her apartment, brought the names of Gerhard M. Dahl, chairman of the board of directors of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Co., and of the late Angier B. Duke into the glaring limelight. Miss Lawson was a guest at the party at which young Duke was drawn last September. That's odd, police in tracking the two murderers who entered the lawson apartment, bound her to a bed, gagged her, attacked her and took jewels worth thousands of dollars.

A strange premonition of the girl's death was told to the police by Mrs. Mary Hartwell, who revealed that Miss Lawson came to New York from Walnut Springs, Tex., six years ago. Other particulars of the girl's life were given to the police by her chum, Charlotte Wakefield, a former member of the chorus of the Ziegfeld Follies.

The case almost parallels that of the murder of "Dix" King, who failed to hurl the name of J. Karsley Mitchell, wealthy Philadelphia, into the prints.

EDISON, OBSERVING 77TH BIRTHDAY, DISCOVERS—QUESTIONNAIRE IS FIZZLE

Thomas Alva Edison on his 77th birthday.

When a man gets to be 77 he sees things more wisely than he did when he was a youth of 75. Thomas Alva Edison, who observed his 77th birthday by taking a vacation of two hours from his laboratories, has decided that his famous questionnaire is a failure. He has found that men's mentality cannot be measured by their answers to such questions as "Where is Umgubk?" and "Why is Kokomo?"

IS ANY MAN'S LOVE WORTH $500,000? WOMAN SUING COUNTESS SAYS IT IS

Mrs. Hortense Ward.

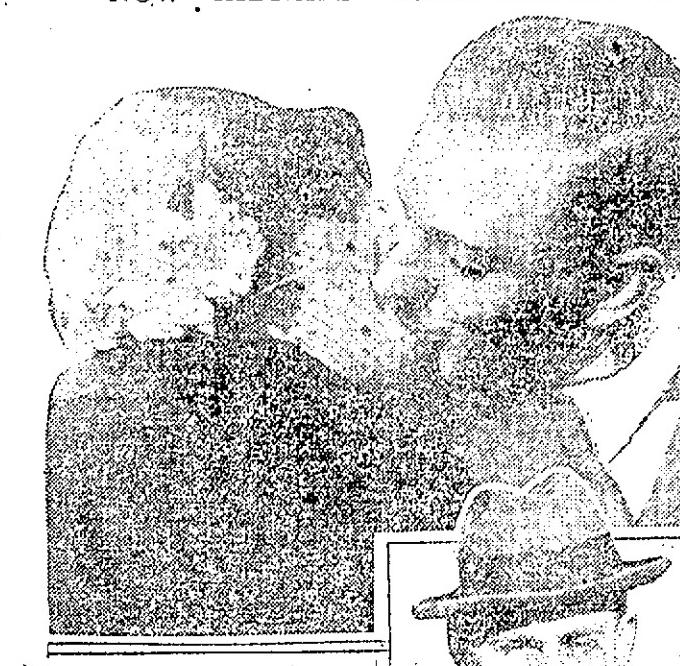

Although he has totally lost his eyesight, Dr. Daniel Moses Fisk is continuing all his work in the classroom as professor of sociology in Washburn College, at Topeka, Kan. He refused to be retired on pension.

Is any man's affection worth $500,000? Mrs. Madeline Helen Modica of New York thinks so, and she has filed suit against the Countess de Perigny, sister of Harry K. Thaw, for that amount, charging the alienation of affection of her husband, Emanuel Victor Modica. Modica is quoted as saying that the charge is true. The love theft is alleged to have occurred in Paris. The Countess de Perigny recently returned to this country with her husband and has been visiting her mother in Pittsburgh.

GRIFFIS HOME FROM GERMAN PRISON, NOW "KIDNAPS" HOME COOKED FOOD

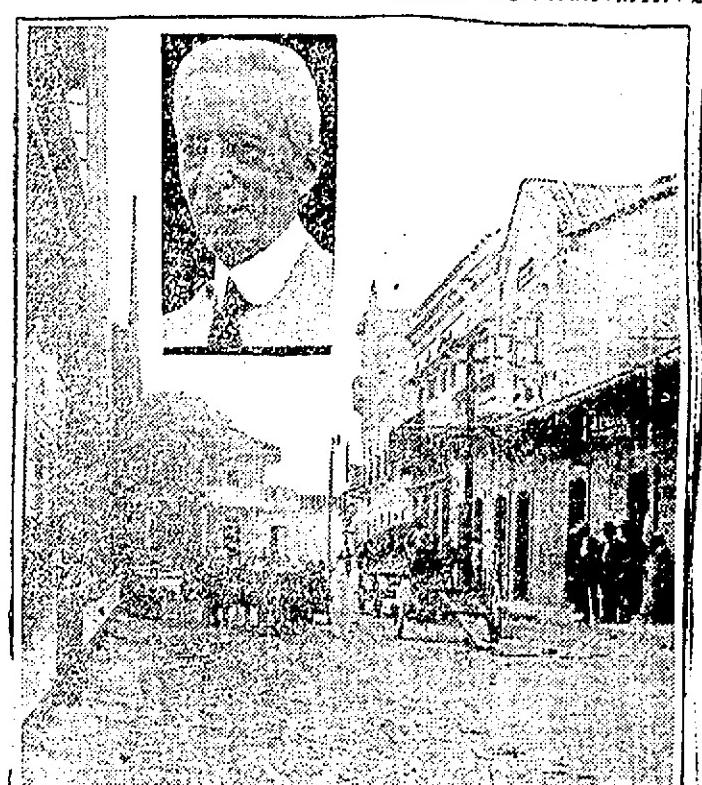

Corliss Hooven Griffis greeting home and mother again.

Corliss Hooven Griffis, former Lieutenant in the army, who attempted to kidnap Cleveland Bergoll, draft evader, in Germany and bring him back to the United States, is back home in Youngstown, O., filling up on mother's cooking after months of prison fare in a German cell where he was confined after the unsuccessful attempt. He was given a rousing reception in New York on his arrival, but he had eyes only for his mother, who with his father and sister, greeted him at the pier.

AMERICAN INTERESTS PROTECTED AS REVOLT ROCKS HONDURAS GOVERNMENT

Street scene at the siesta hour in Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, and (inset) President Rafael Lopez Gutierrez.

American interests are suffering from revolutionary conditions in the republic of Honduras, Central America. The U. S. S. Milwaukee, a scout cruiser, has been sent to the seaport of Ampala, to protect American lives and interests, and representations have been made by Washington urging the immediate setting of a day for the holding of a presidential election. General Carles, one of the three candidates who failed in the recent election, aided by General Bonilla, another candidate, is up in arms against the de facto government of President Gutierrez.

DYNAMITE AND RIOT FAIL TO FREE PRISONERS

Interior of the Southern wing of the Western Pennsylvania penitentiary at Pittsburgh where prisoners rioted.

Inmates of the Western Pennsylvania Penitentiary at Pittsburgh set off dynamite and started a mad stampede for the trap door by the blast, but none escaped. John T. Conz, overseer, and William Pieffer, a deputy warden, were killed. The above photo shows the southern wing, where the blast was set off. Warden Pieffer was shot to death several feet beyond the window-cleaning scaffold in foreground.

Bits of an army blanket used by the dynamiters as packing to wedge the charge of explosive can be seen. The bedding and clothing on the floor was thrown from the cells of prisoners who are under surveillance.

HUSBAND KILLED GRANDMOTHER, SAYS WIFE

Above: View of house and chicken sheds on the farm of Raymond B. Smith near Plymouth, Ind. Arrow points to outbuildings where the body of Smith's grandmother, Mrs. Frances E. Sweet was found. Below: Raymond B. Smith (left), his wife, Mrs. Margaret Smith (center) and a close-up of the farmhouse kitchen in which the murder is declared to have occurred.

The accusing finger pointed at Raymond D. Smith, Plymouth, Ind., farmer, by his wife, Margaret, led to the discovery of the shrunken body of his grandmother, Mrs. Frances E. Sweet, beneath the concrete foundation of an outbuilding on Smith's farm.

She told officers, they say, that her husband was the slayer. She followed this admission with another amazing revelation. She said that Smith told her more than two years ago that he was the murderer of his father.

New Corporation Obtains Quarters

Carl Johnson, production manager of the newly incorporated Janeville manufacturing concern, the Bowden City Stamping Company, announced Saturday that the new company has leased the old Nekobercker Novelty company's building at 822 Beloit avenue for temporary quarters.

The new concern will take possession March 1 when the structure will be vacated by the Nekobercker people. A number of improvements will be made on the property, which is located across the street from the old Nekobercker house.

The company intends to manufacture auto monograms at first and later will turn out other of Mr. Johnson's inventions, including a new type of milk can, money keeper, sanitary milk pail, and other devices. The new auto monogram business will be: "Protect Your Car by Autogram—It Beats Police and Telegram."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

This intimate review and comment on dramatic, operatic and musical topics of the moment is written for the Gazette by one of the most noted critics in the middle west, whose counsel is sought and whose opinions carry weight with the stars of the stage and concert platform. She writes for the Gazette under a nom de plume.

Two new plays (both comedies) have recently opened in New York, with such felicitous results as to encourage even the most pessimistic that ever asserted that the stage was going to the demolition wows.

Messrs. Beach and Kelley are the fortunate dramatists in this instance. Mr. Beach having been the dramatic parent of "The Goose Hangs High," while Mr. Kelley (who also wrote "The Torchbearers") gave the world "The Show Off."

Mr. Beach's play pursues a theme which will have a world wide appeal, for it recites the happenings in a family, whereof the father and mother are the chief characters, the daughter giving their twin offspring all the advantages which they themselves were denied of. The family income is small, and the devoted parents scrimp and save, as many fathers and mothers have done in real life, while the gay and festive twins have the time of their lives at Harvard and Radcliffe.

Christmas arrives, and with it the young god and goddess, who while the parents are away, still are far more enamored of dances, mirth, jollity, and bridge, while the little time they do spend at home is devoted to discussing the erudite questions which have intrigued them at college.

Delightful youngsters of the joyous modern type, self-centered as are most youth, they know it about all there is of it. If the parents are a bit hurt to find so little desire, on the part of their boy and girl, for their society, they bravely put it in the background, and relate to their neighbors the virtues and successes of this pair of windy young girls.

"The Show Off" is a well-constructed, and the girl a competent, aggressive young dame, entirely equal to taking care of herself under all circumstances. This for the first two acts.

Then in the last, Mr. Beach throws sep to the Gobblers of public opinion, and repeats. Father Joseph has another son, is he not entitled to the same? But do they care, and mean over their disgruntled fortunes? Not a bit. Cheerily on, they exultingly abandon their college careers, and obligingly go to work.

Son becomes a scene shifter for a local stock company, until something better turns up, and suddenly, the competent takes over a job as typist for an advertising firm. And the curtain goes down on a family whose head feels that, after all, kids are not so bad. There was rather a tenderness upon the part of a few of the New York critics, probably the childless or bachelors, to see that the boy and girl, though called up in a hokum finale, did not seem as a hokum finale, but the rest of us neophytes in the feeling that, feather-headed as the American boy and girl can be when "The Goose Hangs High," they can strip off their feathers and become working units with the best of them, when stern necessity calls.

George Kelley's comedy "The Show Off" is of a different type, and involves a certain head of a family, who clerks for a salary of $22.50 per week, but who spends his life pretending that he is the head of the department, the chief, the finished head of mouth and full of self-assurance. He is a type too well known to be denied, and Mr. Kelley has presented him with sufficient satire to make him perceptible to the least perceptive audience. Both comedies have become amazingly popular, and have been running long in the Metropolis of the United States, and doubtless a prosperous road extends afterwards.

Roger Wolfe Kahn, son of Otto II. Kahn, financier and good fairy to the musical and other arts of New York, has become a popular top of a jolly boy. Young Mr. Kahn is said to be a devoted adherent of the noise than may be evolved from a saxophone by a determined and conscientious manipulator, and therefore has arranged with Arthur Lange, to take over his excellent orchestra, which will be known as Roger Wolfe's orchestra, the paternal name for obvious reasons being dropped.

With rehearsals in the ancestral halls has been started, to be represented by representatives of 400 of New York's 400, according to authentic reports.

Beatrice Little, who is playing leads in Andre Charlot's Revue, in New York, is the wife of Sir Robert Peel, grandson of the great Sir Robert Peel.

Channing Pollock has announced his intention of writing a play for Sara Sothern, who created the role of the little crippled Mary Margaret, in his popular success, "The Pool."

South America is making bids for Gailli-Curci concerts for next season, that must bring cheer to the hearts of her managers. Down in the temperamental countries to the south of the equator, they think nothing of paying fifteen dollars a seat to see or hear, or both, any artist whom they are interested in. So after Madame Gailli-Curci has charmed her thousands in England, she is very likely to hit to Mexico and points south.

A LITTLE SHORT ON GIRLS

According to various rumors, the season of opera at the Chicago Auditorium is likely to cost not only the guarantee of $500,000, but about as much again to be made up by the powers that be.

Roland Hayes, the negro tenor, who has recently returned to this country from European triumphs that might turn the heads of any singer, is accumulating quite as many laurels in the United States. It is said to possess the second to none in repertory with the most extensive and charming that has always been one of the charms of the negro singer. His technique is reported to be impeccable, and his selections of the most classical kind.

Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher through the recently established Curtis Foundation, has endowed the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, which will open as a music school.

NEWS AND COMMENT FOR SOUTHERN WISCONSIN FARMERS

PUREBREDS SHOW MERIT IN TESTS

Registered Hogs Deliver K. O. to Scrubs in the Ton Litter Contests.

Demonstration of the superior earning power of purebred hogs proved to be the outstanding feature of ton litter contests carried on in 1923, which was only the second year of operation of these contests under the direction of the agricultural colleges of the several states.

Reports from the states of Illinois, Texas, Ohio and Wisconsin showed 162 litters raised that weighed a ton in 180 days and reveal some pertinent facts and figures that evidence what a prominent factor the purchased hog is in economical pork production on farms.

Of the states mentioned, Illinois ranked first with 80 litters raised to reach a weight of 2,000 pounds or more in 180 days. Ohio claimed second place with 40 ton litters, followed by Texas with 28 litters in the honor class. Wisconsin reported 17 litters to make a ton or better in the required time.

To Texas goes the credit for growing the champions of the year on a litter of 12 purebred Durocs weighing 2,500 pounds at six months of age. Second place also went to Texas on a litter with 12 purebred Polands with a weight of 3,542. Indiana held the national ton litter title in 1922. The top litter in Indiana weighed 3,281 while its average production weight recorded was 2,570 on a litter of 18. In Wisconsin a litter of 18 pigs attained a weight of 2,772 pounds, which was the high mark for the state.

HISTORY OF LITTERS

Of the 162 litters raised that reached the weight required in 180 days, 123 were pure bred, the other 39 being half-bred on one side.

Eleven litters were raised by purebred boars and out of dams classified as grades. Some of the sows in this class were purchased because not eligible to registration.

Five were grade litters and the remaining 10 were cross breeds.

Most of the cross breed litters were pure bred on one side and being registered stock of their respective breeds. Classified by breeds the litters are as follows: Berkshires, one; Hampshires, two; Tamworths, four; Chester Whites, seven; spotted Poland Chinas, 10; Poland Chinas, 41; Durocs, 85. The five grade litters were raised in Illinois. The grade litter in the other three states made the qualifying weight in 180 days.

The records made by the purebreds is striking example of their ability to give the greatest production at the lowest cost.

Value of Blood

There were 100 litters of 1,737 pigs raised in the 162 litters or an average of 10.3 pigs per litter. In giving the average weights, Wisconsin is not taken into account as the rules in this state based the weights on a sliding scale and not on 180 days of age. The 148 litters in Ohio, Texas and Illinois weighed 33,591.6 pounds. This is an average of 231.2 pounds for each litter in 180 days.

The average weight of each pig was 221 pounds. This data substantiates the claim that the qualities of productivity, early maturity and rapid growth are highly developed in purebred hogs. Maximum production per sow in the nation is now 2,500 pounds in the purebred raising ports. The 1923 ton litter contests so conclusively prove the superiority of purebred hogs over grades and scrubs in this respect that there is no basis whatever for comparison.

MORRISON TO SPEAK AT FARM MEETING

E. B. Morrison, Wisconsin College of Agriculture, one of the greatest livestock feed experts, will be the next speaker at the Farmers' Short Course lecture being held in the Janesville high school. He is one of the authors of "Feeds and Feeding," the Farmers' Bible.

This meeting will be held the last week of this month, according to J. P. Jackson and Jack C. Nishet, arranging the course. Motion pictures will be shown as part of the program. At the last meeting more than 100 farmers attended and interest is growing.

As the result of the alfalfa lecture given by L. F. Gruber, Madison, several farmers have sent in samples of soils to be tested in the Janesville high school. This service will be free to members of the county.

WALSH DUROC SALE IN BELOIT, FEB. 22

Walsh Brothers, Beloit, hold their fourth annual Duroc-Jersey sale at their farm east of Beloit, on Feb. 22. The stock of these energetic farmers is well known for its breeding of red swine they rank with the best.

At the last state fair, the get of High Pathmaster, herd boar at this farm, took first in the get-class. The stock of these farmers is well known for its purity and the purity of the animals. The Janesville high school band has been engaged for the exhibit.

An invitation to attend this novel exhibit will be made to civic organizations and a number of local clubs expected to attend. Rock county's champion Holstein bull will be shown as a feature. J. C. Robinson, Evansville, president of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association on Saturday will announce the winners in the stock judging contest. There are $500 prizes offered for the horse show, assuring a good display.

Jack C. Nishet, Rock county livestock agent, will be one of the judges, having charge of the placing of the dairy animals. This year the International is managed by George Serry, one of the caretakers with the 1922 Rock county show herd.

Under high temperature and at temperatures around 100° it is said, he successfully micro-irradiated the skin of the animal.

How Sudden Application of Brakes or Clutch Harms Mechanism of Car

Some drivers can use a car for several seasons before requiring to have it overhauled, while others have to put the car into the repair shop before it has finished a single season.

One driver will get perfect satisfaction and service from his car, while another, just driving exactly the same model will have nothing but trouble with it. Why is this?

Study the illustration above. It shows you a few of the parts that are affected when the clutch is let in suddenly or the engine is accelerated when the car is moving slowly. When you let in the clutch with a bang, you apply the full power of the engine to the transmission and put a heavy strain on every part of it.

The first parts to feel the strain are the clutch, clutch shaft and the universal joint between the clutch and gear box. Sometimes the shock is so severe that the shaft twists or breaks, or the universal joint gives way. These parts are built to stand a very considerable overload, and will do it, but there is a limit to everything, and sooner or later, if you continue to abuse them, something will give way.

The strain is transmitted from the clutch shaft to the lay shaft and the gears in the rear box. Many a driver has trouble with noisy gears because he has formed the bad habit of letting in the clutch too quickly. Sometimes this shock causes the shaft to become slightly sprung, or may even break a tooth or strip a gear. When this happens, you have an expensive repair job.

The strain is next felt at the universal joint behind the gear box and in the drive shaft. It happens occasionally that a driver is travelling along the road, when all of a sudden the car comes to an abrupt stop and you hear a noise as if the rear end is being torn out of the car, the trouble being caused by the universal joint giving way and allowing the drive shaft to drop out.

In nine cases out of ten, however, the part that gives way first is one of the gears in the differential in the back axle. You let in the clutch, and after the car has moved a few yards it slows up until stops, but the engine keeps running with the gears still engaged. When this happens, you can be nearly certain that you have stripped a gear in the rear end, and the only thing you can do is call the tow car. Always engage the clutch GENTLY and smoothly, and you will find your car will give you longer service and fewer repair bills. An automobile is like everything else, treat it properly and you will have practically no trouble. Abuse it by driving in the slap-hang style, and you will never be out of the repair shop for very long.

When you jam on the brakes suddenly, it has practically the same effect as when you let in the clutch suddenly, only the shock is transmitted from the rear to the front of the car. When you apply the brakes so harshly that you cause the wheels to lock, it might surprise you to know that very little breaking effect is exerted. When your car starts to skid, the tires do not grip the surface of the road, but SLIDES over it. You would not expect your car to pull up very quickly if you placed a pair of skids under the wheels, yet when you apply the brakes practically what you do is when you are on a slippery street, you will pull up much quicker if you apply the brakes in gentle dabs instead of using a steady pressure.

When you accelerate suddenly and the car is moving very slowly, you do harm in more ways than one. If the street is wet and slippery the rear wheels will spin for a few seconds before they get a grip on the road, and do more damage to the tires in a few seconds than you will in driving normally for 100 miles. In addition to wear on the tires, you throw an additional strain on the transmission also.

Cooperation Builds Homes,

Home building creates confidence, inspires activity and makes prosperity.

That is why every one should convert their savings and surplus money into savings accounts, building and loan shares, mortgages, etc. These home-building channels are the back-bone of any community. Money made available for home building finds its way back into every line of business. It gives employment to many who in turn buy with their earnings the things that you have for sale. Every progressive business and professional man and individual should give careful consideration to these thoughts, and you, as one of the units of our city, can do your share in stimulating prosperity by helping to finance home building.

One or a few men cannot successfully cope with this big problem; it takes complete co-operation to achieve worth-while results.

Co-operation means to join forces, every citizen working hand-in-hand, shoulder - to - shoulder, doing his share in helping to promote progress, stimulate confidence and create prosperity.

Co-operation is the real secret of community development, —and whenever you find the business men and individuals of a city in complete accord, with minds and efforts concentrated in one working unit for the up-building of their city, you will find what progressive cities are termed today—"WHITE SPOTS."

With every effort co-operating for community success, we will be able to finance the home building that is so badly needed here in our city, and, in promoting building activities, we will be making individual success; the money we invest in home building stays right here in our city and comes back to each one of us in exchange for our merchandise or increases in our holdings.

We are counting on you to co-operate and help in this worthy movement. Remember, if we all do our share by investing our savings and surplus money in helping to promote home building, we will have fulfilled a mission that will reflect prosperity to all.

Build an ideal home of your own—create an atmosphere of attractiveness around your present home. After this lend your financial support in helping some one else acquire a home. Mortgage loans are the safest and surest of investments and in addition to the security you will be helping in a movement that will make you a real benefactor, a citizen with the highest moral code of ideals.

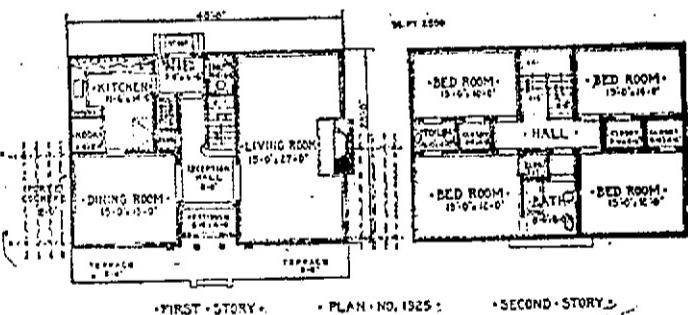

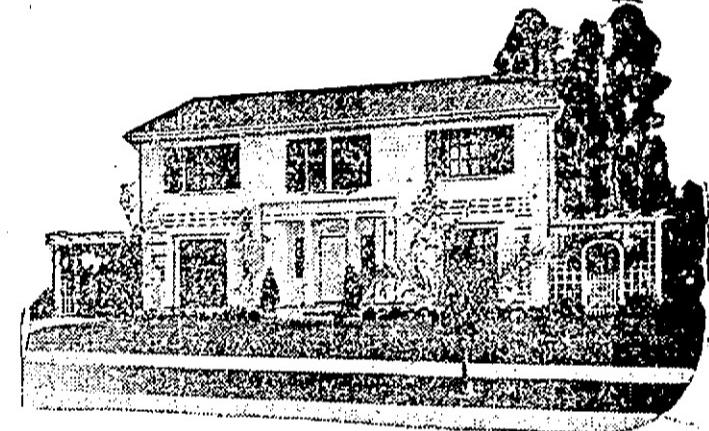

THE FOLLOWING ORGANIZATIONS, PUBLIC-SPIRITED FIRMS AND INDIVIDUALS ARE INTERESTED IN HELPING TO MAKE JANESEVILLE A CITY OF MORE BEAUTIFUL HOMES AND TO ASSIST IN EVERY POSSIBLE WAY IN CREATING HOMES FOR THOSE WHO ARE DESIROUS OF MAKING JANESEVILLE THEIR FUTURE HOME, AND IT IS THEIR RECOMMENDATION THAT ALL WHO CAN POSSIBLY DO SO, BUILD HOMES OR CONVERT THEIR SURPLUS MONEY INTO HOME BUILDING CHANNELS.
